RESCUERS FIND DEATH IS FIRST

Few Imprisoned Persons Now Alive in Great Earthquake Zone in Fair Italy.

30,000 KILLED AND 45,000 WOUNDED ARE LATEST FIGURES

Hundreds Dying From Exposure to Cold and From Hunger—Dry Construction of Dwellings Blamed for Magnitude of Disaster—Train Loads of Wounded Reach Rome Hourly.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The correspondent of the Excelsior, in Rome, wires that he has learned officially that 35,000 were killed and 45,000 injured in the earthquake.

News specials from Rome agree that the great mortality is attributed to the method of dry construction employed in the affected region. The stones being piled upon each other without mortar.

The only buildings which escaped were the modern houses built of reinforced concrete.

Rome, Jan. 16.—Famine and intense cold added to the suffering of the earthquake victims is slowly increasing the huge death toll. Food is plenty, but transportation to many towns is all but impossible because of obstructed roads. Rescue work is now going ahead feverishly. For each hour of delay means death from starvation or exhaustion for buried victims.

From town after town in the stricken section come reports of excavations of ruins that proved too late to save lives. Attention is gradually turning from Avezzano the greatest sufferer, to smaller towns, where almost an equally large percentage were killed. In only one case, that of Avezzano, do late reports show that the victims were less than feared. Only one of the Soras 17,000 appear to have been killed. While train loads of injured arrive in Rome, additional tales of horror come in, confirming earlier estimates of the great loss of life.

Reports indicate that next to Avezzano, the towns suffering most are: Pescara, with 4500 victims; Paternio, 1000; Samelino, with 600 of its population of 1600 wiped out. All are suburbs of Avezzano.

Avezzano, via Rome, Jan. 16.—Special reports regarding the extent of the European disaster are now being received by the authorities. They concern towns and villages in the destroyed region in which Avezzano is situated, and thus far are as follows: Paternio, completely destroyed, except one house, 1,000 dead out of 1,600; Samelino, completely destroyed, number of victims unknown. The catastrophe at Pescara, southeast of Avezzano is appalling in gravity. The victims, according to reports, now number 4500.

London, Jan. 16.—Special dispatch from Rome say that the casualties of the earthquake zone are estimated at 30,000. Further reports will doubtless increase this number. 100 persons crushed in church at Castellina while attending funeral. Soldiers searching the ruins at Sora found the body of 20 nuns who had been crushed to death in front of an altar.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Informally reporting the $48,000,000 naval bill appropriation today, the Naval committee said that while in the European war, the submarine had been effective in harbor and coast defense, it has not been able to control the seas as the battle ship fleets have done.

The committee reported the two battleships program would be continued.

SAWS FOUND IN CELL SAVES JAIL DELIVERY

By Associated Press.

Akron, O., Jan. 16.—Harry Boomer, alleged slayer of Vernie Becker, awaiting trial on a charge of first degree murder, with another prisoner, was put in solitary confinement in jail here today, after 6 steel saws were found in the bed clothing of their cells.

Investigation showed that a picklock on the steel door of the corridor had been sawed through and two bars on a grating opening on the roof were sawed in twain. One more hour's work would have let the men out.

GENERAL FOCH

SAYS BRYAN KNEW ABOUT CONSPIRACY

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 16.—That Secretary of State Bryan had been informed that James Sullivan, American minister to the Dominican Republic, figured in an alleged conspiracy to exploit public contract, was alleged today in the hearing conducted by Senator-elect Phalen.

James L. Byne, of Boston, Mass., a construction engineer testified that he told Mr. Bryan that the minister's cousin, Timothy J. Sullivan, had told him that the minister had arranged that the National Bank of the Dominican should get the government contract, and that Timothy J. was down in San Domingo to manage the contract work and see the minister. He said: "Sullivan got his bit."

Mr. Bryan, the witness said, asked him to write out his statement. "Perhaps you don't care to do this" Mr. Bryan is reported to have said.

"I got the impression that the secretary did not want the matter to go on the records," said Byne.

GERMANS EVACUATE MANY COAST TOWNS

Numerous Great Military Moves of Week Surprises Experts—Think Kaiser is Looking for Weak Spot to Attempt Break for Paris in Early Spring.

By Associated Press.

Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 16.—A correspondent at Ostend says the Germans have evacuated all the coast towns and villages as far north as Mariakerke, which is north of Newport, Westend and Middelkerke, and three miles southwest of Ostend.

These towns have not been occupied by the allies.

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 16.—Out of the state of virtual deadlock which for weeks has existed in the eastern and western war zones, there has sprung during the past few days, military events of more importance than followers of the war expected at this time.

They are briefly: The Russian offensive movement toward new points in East Prussia, in Posen; the fight at Soissons; the expected Turkish advance on Egypt and the plans for renewed attack on Serbia by the combined Austro-German forces.

To the west of Warsaw large German forces are still concentrating but gaining little ground. It is thought likely that a struggle may develop at any time which will overshadow previous battles for the Polish capital.

It is suggested that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is about to initiate another movement against the Russians, backed by fresh troops, and it is also believed that the Russian advance toward the German frontier is made with a view to forestalling this attempt on the part of the German general.

The British Press concedes victory for the Germans near Soissons. Military writers speculating as to the reason for Emperor William's presence at the front near Soissons, say that he is visiting various points along the western front, feeling out the situation with a view to selecting a place for attempting to break through in the spring.

Dispatches reaching London assert that the Germans have not abandoned the hope of reaching Calais, and plan a new offensive in Belgium and Northern France.

The dispatches say that the soldiers hope to present Calais to the Emperor for a birthday present. Only a small number of British writers profess to see in the German advance at Soissons any new threat at Paris. They pay more attention to indications that the Turks intend to invade Egypt. The general feeling is that this movement could be checked.

Latest advices relating to the prospects of the Austro-German forces intended attack upon Serbia, say that the Germans are on their way to Budapest to meet the remnants of four or five Austrian army corps which met defeat at the hands of the Serbians.

Reports that Warden Thomas of the penitentiary was to be removed were partly set at rest today, when Gov. Willis stated that he had no intention of naming a man to replace Warden Thomas.

TO LECTURE ON THE ORIENT

Mrs. Daniel Shepardson, Jr., takes pleasure in presenting the Shepardson Oriental lecture-sermons for the fifth season to the churches, chautauquas, ladies' clubs and Missionary societies of the United States. She carries a large and costly Oriental exhibit which she has collected during the years spent in the Orient. Each evening the exhibit and costumes are changed, illustrating the country upon which she speaks. She has spent five years in study and travel and presents her messages to the church first hand. Mrs. Shepardson has just returned from a European tour of two months, where she has obtained in the British Museum and Galleries added knowledge of interest to her regular work. She is the widow of the late Rev. Daniel Shepardson who died in Honolulu, Hawaii, eight years ago, on his way around the world.

"I am pleased to commend Mrs. Daniel Shepardson, Jr., to the lecture-going public. She has been trained in platform work by her husband and has gathered material in abundance through world travel. I am convinced that her lectures will give satisfaction," says Wm. Jennings Bryan.

BRYAN MAKES REPLY

Washington, Jan. 16.—The disclosure of Secretary Bryan's attitude toward the appointment of "deserving Democrats" to positions on the payroll of the Dominican republic, as shown in the letter written by him to W. W. Vick, former receiver general of Santo Domingo, caused Mr. Bryan to issue a statement as follows: "I am glad to have the public know that I appreciate the services of those who work in politics and feel an interest in seeing them rewarded. I think that is the only charge that can be based on that letter, and as Mr. Vick received his appointment as a reward for political work, I thought he was a good man to address in expressing my opinion on the subject."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

Poetry For Today

GIVE US MEN!
Give us men!
Men—from every rank,
Fresh and free and frank;
Men of thought and reading,
Men of light and leading,
Men of loyal breeding,
The Nation's welfare speeding;
Men of faith and not of fiction,
Men of lofty aim in action;
Give us men—I say again,
Give us men!

Give us Men!
Strong and stalwart ones;
Men whom highest hope inspires,
Men whom purest honor fires,
Men who trample Self beneath them
Men who make their country wreath them,
As her noble sons,
Worthy of their sires,
Men who never shame their mothers
Men who never fail their brothers,
True, however false are others;
Give us Men—I say again,
Give us Men!

Give us Men!
Men who, when the tempest gathers,
Grasp the Standard of their fathers
In the thickest fight;
Men who strike for home and altar,
(Let the coward cringe and falter.)
God defend the right!
True as truth though lorn and lonely,
Tender, as the brave are only,
Men who tread where saints have trod,
Men for Country, Home—and God:
Give us Men, I say again—again—
Give us such Men!
—Bishop of Exeter.

The "Dictator" Executives

Whenever an executive officer nowadays undertakes to make his administration effective and real and in so doing interferes with the program of any special privilege interest, the very immediately goes up that the executive is usurping the powers of the law-making branch and has become a dangerous dictator.

It is strange how jealously special privilege guards the rights of the legislative branches of the government. Only when the executive undertakes to drive the special interests from their entrenchments surrounding the legislative branch of the governments, however, is the cry about interference by the executive and overstepping his constitutional power heard.

As long as special privilege is given an undisputed right to conduct the legislative lobby, no complaint is made. The instant the executive—president or governor—who is the lobbyist of the people undertakes to secure legislation in the interest of the people, he has, according to the complaint which goes up, violated the constitutional provisions designed to preserve and keep separate "co-ordinate" branches of the government.

Special interests maintain a lobby direct or indirect in its effect, according to the law of the particular subdivision, to look after their interests while the people have no one to look after their interests unless the executive who is rally elected for that purpose, does so.

If it was not so harmful in its effect and so misleading, the complaint against executives who try to look after the rights of the many who cannot maintain a bureau or a lobby, if you please, to look after their rights and guard those rights against attack by the few demanding special privilege, would be amusing.

Whenever a watchful executive blocks special privilege in an effort to secure legislation favorable to it and harmful to the people we begin to hear that the executive is overstepping his constitutional rights.

So long as special privilege is not interfered with there is no complain about the executive exceeding his powers.

The progress made in the interest of the people under executives who, "interfere" with the legislative branch of the government is every day convincing people that there is need of just such executives and that the objections urged come from sources which people generally do not look upon with favor.

The people are rapidly learning that an executive who is accused of dictating to the legislative branch is working in the interest of the many and against the favor-seeking few.

Opposes Girls' Dancing In Drinking Places

By ANNA PAVLOWA, Famous Russian Dancer

THINK it rather a pity that nice young girls should dance in public restaurants and drinking places, where they come in contact with all sorts of persons.

WHY DO THEY NOT RESTRICT THEIR PARTNERS FOR THIS SORT OF DANCING TO ONE OR TWO PARTICULARLY INTIMATE FRIENDS? IT IS WRONG FOR A YOUNG GIRL TO BE THROWN INTO THE ARMS OF EVERYBODY.

Dancing will always be a social amusement, and there is every reason for it to be.

BUT IN THEIR ENTHUSIASM FOR DANCING PERSONS SHOULD NOT FORGET TO CONSIDER THEIR APPEARANCE DURING THE EXECUTION OF THEIR DANCES.

HIS ULTIMATUM.

It Brought the Erie Directors to Terms, and Underwood Won.

"When Underwood was made president of the Erie road," said a Wall street man, "certain things were promised. Roadbed and rolling stock were in rotten condition, but he was assured that the money would be forthcoming for betterments. After Underwood had taken the big desk the bankers' attitude was changed. Money was tight—the Erie was a very swamp for swallowing dollars—and they suggested that Mr. Underwood sit tight and refrain from peevish movement in the canoe. It went on for a time until conditions began to improve. Then Mr. Underwood renewed his demands.

"Impossible," said the bankers.

"The following day there was a meeting of the directors. Underwood called it to order and then laid two folded papers on the table.

"This road needs $10,000,000 for improvements or a new president," said he. "Here is a resolution empowering me to borrow that amount of money. There is my resignation. I will leave the room for five minutes so that you may act."

"In two minutes the door opened and an elderly banker thrust his head out. 'Come on in, Underwood,' he said. 'We've adopted your resolution and burned your resignation. You win.'"

Beware of the Dog!
In Jersey they have an interesting device for keeping off tramps and burglars. A watchdog, too ferocious and too valuable to be allowed to run loose, is tied to a rope about four feet long, and this rope is tied to a ring that runs loosely over a long wire about four feet from the ground. The wire stretches from the back porch to a pole at the end of the yard, and as the ring slips easily over it the dog has the full run of the yard without being able to bite visitors or innocent passersby. The wire is practically invisible by night, and many a prowler has gone on his way a sadder but a wiser man after assuming from the looks of things in the front of the house that there wasn't a dog.—New York Mail.

Had No Fault to Find.

"Look here," he said to the groom, "are you the man who put the saddle on Miss Jennie's horse?"

"Yes, sir. Anything wrong, sir?"

"It was loose, very loose. She had no sooner mounted than the saddle slipped, and if I hadn't caught her she would have been thrown to the ground."

"I'm very sorry, sir."

"But I did catch her," went on the young man meditatively. "I caught her in my arms, and—here's half a crown for you, John. Do you suppose you could leave the girl loose when we go riding again tomorrow?"—London Telegraph.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. You can now get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

MUSTEROLE does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Just massage MUSTEROLE in with the finger-tips gently. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

And there is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50. Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

PROFESSOR WOOD EXPLAINS GREAT WONDERS OF SCIENCE

LARGE AUDIENCE HELD SPELL-BOUND BY WONDERFUL DEMONSTRATIONS OF THE ULTRA-VIOLET RAY AND THE GYROSCOPE—WASHINGTON CITIZENS GET GLIMPSE INTO WONDERS OF THE FUTURE.

Probably a lecture was never before given in this city which created the profound interest and was so highly instructive as that given by Prof. Montraville M. Wood and his daughter, Miss Aileen M. Wood, at Grace church, Friday night, where for two hours the audience was held spell bound by the wonderful exhibitions of the Ultra-Violet Ray and the Gyroscope. The lecture was the second number of the Washington Lecture Course.

Mr. Wood is well known in the world of science and has given to this world many important discoveries and inventions. He is thoroughly acquainted with his subject, and is able to describe them in a clear and interesting manner, so that everyone in his audience is able to understand the wonders of these modern discoveries in the world of science. Mr. Wood is assisted in his experiments by his daughter, Aileen, who is also an ardent worker in the world of wonders, she having made several valuable discoveries while at work in her father's laboratory, which discoveries have been given to the world and are now invaluable.

Professor Wood first illustrated and explained the ultra-violet ray, and then took up the subject of the gyroscope. The ultra-violet ray has only been known to the world of science for the last few years, and until recently has been of very little value to scientists. However it has been discovered that it is valuable in treating cancers and is now being used for that purpose. The ray cannot be seen by the human eye, as the light rays travel far too fast for the eye to grasp. In treating cancer of the stomach, the patient swallows a radio active substance, known as mesothorium, to which is attached a cord, so that this substance may be drawn up out of the stomach again. The ultra-violet rays pass through the tissues of the body until they reach this radio active substance. As soon as they reach this they are reflected or diffused and thrown out all through the tissues of the stomach and in this way act on cancer. The treatment lasts about fifteen minutes, after which the mesothorium is withdrawn from the stomach and is ready for the next patient. There is only about $22,000 worth of this radio-active substance in existence and this is all contained in a small tube in the laboratory of the Chicago university.

Prof. Wood has been experimenting for many years with the ray and has been trying to discover a way to make a paper that will store up daylight and then give off this light at night-time. He has partially succeeded, as he has a paper that will store up the light, but at present this paper is too costly for use in a commercial way. However, it is thought that in a few years it will be possible to purchase this paper at a reasonable cost. Many interesting experiments were performed by the lecturer with this paper. The ultra-violet ray was also explained and demonstrated by him in many interesting manners.

Artificial flowers were subjected to the light rays for a few moments and afterward gave a distinct blue light. This radiation from the flowers continues for 12 to 20 hours. Other illustrations of the wonderful light storage which, Prof. Wood predicts will some day revolutionize lighting, were given, to the wonder and mystification of the entire audience.

Following the talk on the ultra-violet ray, Prof. Wood took up the subject of the gyroscope, and illustrated it by many interesting experiments. The gyroscope is something that has not yet been explained by the world of science. It is like the subject of electricity. All that is known is that it exists. A prize of $50,000 is offered for the person who will describe the principle of the gyroscope. Prof. Wood said that it is not likely that this prize will ever be won.

The gyroscope defies every law of gravitation, and this was demonstrated by several interesting experiments on the stage. The value of the gyroscope in an aeroplane was also demonstrated. When a gust of wind strikes a machine equipped with one of these, the side of the machine which the pressure of the wind does not affect, has a tendency to rise and thus overcome the pressure on the other side. This is invaluable to the aeronaut. The same principle is also applied to the mono-rail car and was demonstrated by the professor. Automobiles have also been equipped with these gyroscopes which run on two wheels. Prof. Wood said that in five years it will be a common sight to see two-wheeled autos running on our streets and country highways.

It would be impossible to describe the many interesting and instructive experiments that were performed on the stage by the professor. It is sufficient to say that they were enjoyed by all and that it is the sincere hope of the people of Washington that Prof. Wood will come back to this city some time in the near future and give us some more of the wonders of science.

FAYETTE WINS FOUR NEW CUPS

Mr. H. W. Bussert, who is becoming known as the "Corn King of Ohio", was in the city Saturday and brought with him two handsome trophy cups won at the State Corn show.

The state gave six cups, and of the six, Fayette walked off with four of the leaders.

One of the four cups won by Fayette county was the County Cup, awarded annually by the State Association.

The County Cup was won in the face of heavy opposition, Fayette having 12 exhibits and making the big winning while Van Wert county, for instance, had more than 100 exhibits and failed to win half as much as Fayette county.

The two handsome cups coming to Fayette and brought to this city by Mr. Bussert, are now on exhibition at the Washington Savings bank, where they are attracting much attention, both to Fayette and to the man who is doing so much to make Fayette county famous in corn growing circles.

DR. SCOTT FULTON DIES IN COLUMBUS

After a short illness of acute pneumonia, Dr. Scott Fulton, formerly well known practitioner of this city, died at his home at 135 Martin avenue, Columbus, on Friday.

Dr. Fulton was a visitor in this city but a few days ago and news of his death came as a shock to relatives and friends here. He was 50 years of age and is survived by his widow, one daughter, Miss Margaret, three sisters and two brothers.

Dr. Fulton was widely recognized as an unusually bright physician. After leaving this city he studied abroad and upon his return opened offices in Columbus. He was quite active at one time in the Republican politics of this city, and was a member of the council.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the residence in Columbus, and afterwards the remains will be taken to Waterloo for burial in the Waterloo cemetery.

Funeral services will be held in the Christian church of Waterloo at one o'clock Sunday afternoon.

STAGE HANDS.

From the Important Carpenter Down to the Lowly "Grip."

To the outsider the term stage hand is applied to every one that works behind the footlights except the players, but there is quite an aristocratic line of demarcation.

There are the stage carpenter and the assistant stage carpenter, who build scenery; there are the property man and the assistant property man, who make and shape all kinds of things out of papier mache for properties and look after the furniture and decorations of the stage; there are the fly men, who manipulate the ropes at the top of the theater, hoisting and lowering scenery and also raising and dropping the curtain. The natural habitat of these fly men is on platforms up in the flies, many feet above the stage, and when not otherwise employed they have the disconcerting habit of audibly gossiping and playing cards. Then there are the electrician and his assistants, whose business it is to operate the lights.

The humblest of the regular staff is the "grip." This man handles scenery and does general utility work about the stage. When exigency demands the force is added to from the roustabouts who usually infest the stage entrance, eking out a miserable existence through casual jobs and "sponging" upon the members of the regular staff.—Mary Shaw in London Strand Magazine.

The Proper Way.

"I wish you wouldn't growl so much," declared the wife, an ex-actress. "Why shouldn't I growl when the meals are cold?" retorted the husband. "You took me from the stage to be your wife." "I did." "Then if you disapprove of the way I play the part kindly express your disapproval by means of hisses."—Kansas City Journal.

PAIR OF BIGAMISTS ARE IN THE TOILS

Sheriff Welmer made his first arrest Wednesday when he went to Cedarville and returned with William Shears, wanted on a charge of bigamy. The affidavit was filed in Squire Green's court by Prosecuting Attorney Crabbe. The sheriff had no warrant to arrest Lizzie Jones Barlow Shears, the woman in the case, but she is detained at Cedarville on an old charge of disorderly conduct, from which she had jumped her bond. The pair were married in this city on November 2. The former help-mates of both, it is said are living in Cedarville, and no record of divorce has been found.

The fact that the two were married developed Tuesday morning when the woman was arrested on the old charge of disorderly conduct, standing against her in the Cedarville mayor's court.

In company with Shears, she returned to Cedarville Tuesday night. Shears went to the home of a relative, while Mrs. Shears repaired to the home of Rosa Moore, colored.

Constable James Dugfield took the woman into custody. On his way to the prison with her, Shears appeared on the scene.

The pair were indicted by the Madison county grand jury for bigamy. Thursday, and Sheriff Welmer arrested the woman this, Friday, morning at Cedarville, and she now rests peacefully in the county jail.—London Democrat.

WOMEN IN "CAGES."

A Reminder of the Days When Crinoline Was the Vogue.

Fifty-one private letters of Dr. E. Barthez, physician to the prince imperial, have been translated by Bernard Miall to form "The Empress Eugenie and Her Circle." A letter from Biarritz (1856) describes the empress personally and discusses the fabulous amplitude of the dresses she wore:

"All this stuff is supported by a sort of skeleton of flexible iron. The empress is greatly attached to this cage, which to us seems very ungraceful and inconvenient. She sticks to it in spite of the quips of the emperor, to whom she simply replies that she does not know how she lived so many years without a cage.

"I can only find two excuses for this fashion. One is that women who wear it have their legs free in walking and are not hampered by skirts and petticoats hanging on their calves and thighs and impeding their movements; the other, in her case, is that there is a sort of harmony between the amplitude of the woman and the size of the apartments in which she lives. * * * Here a dozen women adorn the salon admirably and are in harmony with the wide spaces, the ample seats, the width and height of the doors. I knew nothing of this effect, which I now understand, and I now see why this taste—false in itself—has nevertheless a certain justness in its application."

YOUNG BURGLARS GET OUT OF FRYING PAN INTO FIRE

Clifford Dailey and Arthur Lindsey, Both of This City and One of Whom Was Just Released From Custody, Are Under Arrest in Springfield For Series of Burglaries in South Charleston.

Arthur Lindsey, who has been wanted in this city for some time, suspected of knowing something about numerous burglaries in this place, and Clifford Dailey, recently arrested here and who confessed to being one of the two would-be burglars recently discovered in the Ben Davis store, are under arrest in Springfield on charges of burglary, and will face the grand jury in that city in the near future.

Dailey, it will be recalled, was released from custody just a few days ago. He has served time in the Boys' Industrial school and the police regard him as one of the smoothest criminals of his years, in this part of Ohio.

Lindsey is a brother to the lad who recently, with Carl Manns, burglarized the Duey store. He is said to have been with Dailey in the Davis store.

Regarding the trouble in which the Dailey and Lindsey boys now find themselves, and which threatens to send them to the Mansfield Reformatory, the Springfield Sun of Saturday says:

"Arthur Lindsey and Clifford Dailey 18-year-old boys whose homes are in Washington C. H., were brought to this city last evening by Detective John Powell of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton road and placed in the county jail. During the afternoon they were arraigned before Mayor Lou Irvin, of South Charleston, on charges of burglary and larceny and after being given a preliminary hearing were bound over to the grand jury, the bond of each being fixed at $500.

The boys are alleged to have broken into three places of business in South Charleston Thursday night, being fired upon by the night watchman who saw them prowling around. Marshal Smith captured both boys later at the D. T. and I. tower, but Dailey got away from him. He was later captured by Marshal Blessing, of South Solon, after a long chase.

The places broken into were the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton station, D. W. Daugherty general store and Shough brothers flour mill. Little plunder was secured in the places and most of this it was said was found on the boys when placed under arrest.

At the D. T. and I. station a portion of the window pane was broken and the window unlocked to gain entrance. A slot machine was smashed and some of the wax taken out. Some tickets were also stolen but they were found later in a vacant lot where they had been thrown.

A rear transom was the means of entrance at the Daugherty store. Three watches and $1.37 in money were taken from the cash register.

At the flour mill a cellar window was pried open and in this way the burglars got into the office. The safe was left unlocked and a $50 confederate bill in the safety box and a chamolins money bag was also taken. It was said an unsuccessful attempt was made to get into some houses there."

The Inevitable Comment.

A committee of investigating scientists approached a lady.

"Madam," said Professor Prewins, the spokesman, offering her a magnificent chrysanthemum of rare and lovely hue—"madam, permit us to present this flower to you as a token of our high regard."

She clasped the splendid blossom in her lily hand.

Breathlessly the committee awaited her response.

"How beautiful it is!" she answered. "What an exquisite shade of purple! I should love to have a dress of that color."

Dr. Prewins nodded knowingly to the committee, as if to say, "I told you so."

The committee winked at the professor and whispered, "You win."—Newark News.

MOB HANGS FOUR GEORGIA NEGROES

Father, Son and Two Daughters Are Lynched.

Monticello, Ga., Jan. 16. — A mob composed of about 100 unidentified persons stormed the Jasper county jail here, overpowered Sheriff James Ezell, took the keys away from him, got possession of four negro prisoners, a man, his two daughters and one son, and, marching there, to a tall pine tree, a half mile distant, lynched them one at a time. The negroes were hanged by the same rope and the body of each was riddled with bullets.

Dan Barber, his son Jesse and his two daughters, Eula and Ella, the victims of the mob, were taken in custody by Sheriff Ezell Wednesday night after they had roughly handled Chief of Police J. P. Williams of Monticello.

The chief of police went to Barber's home to raid a blind tiger which he had been informed was operated there by Barber, who was a notorious character. The chief was alone. He found Barber, his son, his two daughters and five other negro men there carousing. The negroes pretended to submit to arrest, but a few minutes later, when they caught Williams off his guard, the members of Barber's family assaulted him. A passing negro gave the alarm and Sheriff Ezell hurried there alone. When he walked into the door the negro, Barber, and his son and two daughters were still beating the chief. Sheriff Ezell with pistol in hand rounded up the gang.

INFLUENCE OF THE RUSSIAN CHURCH

BY W. BLANCHARD MOORE

One of the wonders of Russia is the numerous churches that are found in all parts of the empire. No matter how small and poverty-stricken a village may be, you will find, comparatively speaking, an expensive church. In the small towns (especially Siberia), the churches are built of logs hewed flat—the floors made of boards, frequently covered with oil-cloth—the walls painted white or light blue and hung with sacred pictures and the domes are painted blue or green. Although the material is cheap, it is the best quality of the kind, more carefully selected and better finished than any building in the village. In large cities, however, especially in European Russia, the material used is of the most expensive character. Many of the churches are built of the finest white marble, beautifully carved, the floor is mosaic and varied colors, the walls are decorated with faces of Christ, the Virgin and Oriental Saints inlaid with jewels and precious stones set in gold, and the great domes are covered with pure gold leaf.

The great dome of every church is surrounded by four or more smaller ones that seem to guard it like sentinels. The great dome extends far above all other buildings, and is the first thing seen as one approaches the city. After the sun sinks below the horizon, the reflection on this golden dome gives it the appearance of a miniature sun, and as the lingering rays mingle with the rays of the moon, this apparent dome of solid gold slowly melts into one of silver.

Contrary to general opinion, there is one place in Russia where all classes are on absolute equality—and that is—at the church. In the most expensive churches, neither money nor birth can secure a favored place. Beneath these gilded domes, noblemen, peasant and beggar, regardless of dress or station, kneel side by side to offer up their prayers.

In Russia, the traveler is not only impressed by the magnitude and wonderful influence of the church, but also by the slavish devotion of the peasants to their religious belief. In the finest mansion or the humblest hut, you will find the gilded ikon before which the devout Russian prostrates himself from ten to twenty times a day. Before everything he eats or drinks, he will cross himself and murmur his prayers.

In order to become more familiar with the life of the peasant under varying conditions, I spent nearly two days in a fourth class railway coach, which is only one class above the ordinary immigrant car. The majority of the passengers were immigrants and it was almost pitiful to see their slavish religious devotion.

On the Siberian road, stops are few, but long, and at the first opportunity in the morning, these peasants would rush from the car, facing the sun and apparently unconscious of the presence of others, go through their religious exercises. At frequent intervals during the day, standing in the crowded car and without the slightest possible privacy, these simple people cross themselves and earnestly pray from five to ten minutes. They were so intense in their devotion that they seemed perfectly oblivious of their surroundings, and the reverential expression on their faces was ample proof of their sincerity.

Quoting from a writer on Russia—"Owing to the intense ignorance and extreme religious principles of the Russian peasant, he is an easy victim of impostors. As an illustration, a fellow, dressed as a monk or priest, traveled from one town to another and for a small sum, offered to show a few hairs of the Virgin Mary. Only one person was admitted at a time. From a small package, he removed in succession, a series of wrapping papers and in the last one the visitor was invited to gaze upon these miraculous hairs. The paper, of course, was empty, and the peasant would declare he saw nothing. The impostor would then sorrowfully explain these hairs are invisible to sinful eyes and it is only the pious who can see them. The Mujick (Russian peasant), would again look more closely and then loudly and proudly declare he saw them plainly."

In many nations, the church is a secondary consideration, and religion is largely a matter of custom. In Russia, however, the church is first in word, thought and deed, and religion with the masses is part of their life, in fact, the very essence of their inner being.

QUAKE TOLLS SWELL

Rome, Jan. 16. — Detailed reports coming in from the provinces which suffered in the great earthquake show that the number of deaths will probably exceed the first estimates of 20,000 and will perhaps be more than 30,000, with nearly 50,000 injured.

These figures are based on the conditions found by the relief organizations in towns and villages near Rome, especially in Avezzano, which was entirely destroyed, with a loss of life that may surpass 10,000. The authorities do not attempt even to estimate the casualties in Campania and the southern part of the province of The Abruzzi, where the undersecretary of public works is organizing the relief work.

The same situation is true of the towns of Sora, fifteen miles southeast of Avezzano, Pescedolito, Castelliri, Atina and Isoliri, where the mortality is supposed to have been the greatest. The military are now engaged in opening up the railroads and highways to those places which are as yet unrelieved, since the disaster at Avezzano has monopolized the relief efforts. The conditions in Campania are said to be especially appalling.

Although the killed and injured are increasing, Italy has gone resolutely at the task of relief and is confident of handling the situation without outside aid. Offers from foreign countries have been declined with thanks, although Americans, Germans, British, French and other residents here are taking an active part. Fears that foreigners had lost their lives in the disaster have been dispelled by careful inquiry, and it is certain that no Americans were killed, though some naturalized emigrants are probably among the victims.

One of the greatest perils now is the weather, which is very cold.

Magnitude of the Disaster.
The growth of the disaster is emphasized in the late reports coming in from numerous towns. Magliano-di-Marsi has 1,300 casualties out of a population of 1,500. Pescini is said to have 4,000 dead and San Benedetto 2,000. Apparently 10,000 were killed at Avezzano and 4,000 at Sora. Castelliri has 70 dead, Isola 37 dead and 170 injured, and Capolacruce 10 dead. The 200 survivors at Magliano-di-Marsi are homeless and starving and the same is the case with thousands in other towns. Sixty small villages have a total of 6,000 dead, with many bodies still unrecovered from the ruins.

Pope Benedict visited the Santa Marta hospital. He comforted and blessed each of the 41 injured refugees in the hospice. Following the precedent of Pope Pius in 1908 at the time of the Messina earthquake, he went to the hospice through St. Peter's chapter house and thence through the adjoining passage and did not once touch Italian territory. He was guarded by papal gendarmes.

Relief and rescue work at Avezzano is gradually becoming organized. The troops are being continually reinforced and the injured survivors, as soon as first aid is administered, are sent to Rome. Two trainloads arrived here. King Victor visited the Avezzano ruins again, encouraged the survivors who were unhurt, took note of the amount of damage and, seeing that the task was growing, telegraphed to the premier here and ordered additional troops and supplies sent, including medical stores, provisions and tents.

Thomas Nelson Page, the United States ambassador, paid a visit to the minister of the interior to express his personal sympathy and that of his country and to offer aid, expressing a desire to send members of the embassy staff to the Avezzano region if there was no objection. The minister said the government would appreciate such work and the ambassador accordingly dispatched an automobile with supplies, especially blankets.

BATTLE RAGING NEAR SOISSONS

Paris, Jan. 16. — Soissons continues to be the center of the heaviest fighting on the western front. It is the most important and the fiercest conflict since that at Ypres in the first German dash for Calais. Although the allies have been obliged to withdraw at certain points and the Germans have advanced, the battle is by no means over, and General Joffre is sending further reinforcements in expectation of recovering the lost ground.

The capture of St. Paul, a small village a mile and a quarter northeast of Soissons and slightly south of Crouy, shows that the allied counter attack has had some effect.

Fears are quietly expressed in official circles, however, that the enemy is getting ready for another attempted dash on Paris.

Two hundred refugees who arrived in Paris from Crouy say that the battle for that village was exceptionally violent and that very large forces of men were engaged on both sides. They also say that the Germans fired indiscriminately, the cathedral being hit seventy-five times.

Although the French are now on the south side of the Aisne, they still hold bridge heads on the north bank. Entrenchments have been constructed on the south side to halt the Germans if they attempt to follow up their present advantage. It is stated that the number of troops concentrated at Soissons now is the largest of any point on the entire front.

German Report.

The German main army headquarters announces that as a result of the three days' fighting northeast of Soissons about 5,200 prisoners, fourteen guns, six machine guns and some revolver guns were captured. The further announcement is made that the French suffered heavy losses, from 4,000 to 5,000 dead French soldiers being found on the battlefield.

The German success has been somewhat offset by the reported British success near La Bassée and the capture by zouaves of some German trenches in the region of Arras. There have been attacks and counter attacks at other points, but generally it has been the artillery which has been kept busy.

The latest official reports from the Russian general staff disclose a new operation on the part of the Russian army which may have far-reaching results. The Russian cavalry commenced a forward movement in northern Poland on the right bank of the

It is believed that Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, intends to use in this region an entirely new army, consisting, according to Petrograd dispatches, of from 800,000 to 1,000,000 men, operating in conjunction with an army which is advancing in East Prussia. This army would place the German troops at Miawa in a vise and at the same time threaten the rear of the Germans in front of Warsaw.

URGES EMBARGO

Washington, Jan. 16. — A telegram reached the White House from Mrs. Julian Heath of New York, of the Housewives' league, who said that, speaking for 800,000 American homes, she urged President Wilson to embargo shipments of wheat abroad, that the supply might be conserved to keep prices at normal in America.

TEMPERANCE DEBATE IS ON

Martine, Bristow, O'Gorman and Others Speak.

Washington, Jan. 16. — The senate was enlivened by an old fashioned debate on the prohibition question. Senator Martine of New Jersey was opposed to all such legislation. He roused Senator Bristow from the prohibition state of Kansas until that gentleman cast aspersions upon the social and moral condition of New Jersey as compared with Kansas.

"Geographically, New Jersey is situated next to New York, the great Empire State with her open port, open to the world, and on the other side is Pennsylvania, with the great open port of Philadelphia," said Mr. Martine. "Naturally we might get some of the evils of the great city."

This brought Senator O'Gorman of New York to his feet. "I am surprised," said he, "that the senator from New Jersey, in the situation provoked by the senator from Kansas, should find it necessary to resort to a plea of confession and avoidance. Living next to the state of New Jersey as I do, I should be prepared to say that there is absolutely no foundation for the criticism of the senator from Kansas regarding the commonwealth of New Jersey."

Senator Martine read statistics to prove that prohibition Kansas had a greater percentage of criminals and paupers and illiterates than Nebraska adjoining, which has high license and regulation. Senator Martine also charged that Georgia's prohibition law had been a failure, which roused Senator Hoke Smith to action. Mr.

SHOCKING
SULLIVAN

New York, Jan. 16.—James M. Sullivan, American minister to the Dominican Republic, was pictured at the inquiry conducted by Senator-elect Phelan into his fitness to hold the post, as having been associated with interests who for money consideration would guarantee to obtain profitable contracts from the Dominican government. Another witness said that Sullivan in his undershirt received Italian and British envoys. He said Sullivan's attire was disgraceful.

E. Bright Wilson, attorney for C. D. Smith, a contractor of Memphis, testified that his client had told him he had been approached with an offer of such a guarantee and had been told that Sullivan could make it possible for him to get road contracts in Santo Domingo that would net 30 per cent. The man who approached his client, he said, was William C. Beers, an attorney, said to be associated with the Samuel M. Jagvis interests who controlled the Banco Nacional at Santo Domingo. This is the institution which, it had been previously testified, had obtained the deposits of Dominican customs funds through Sullivan's influence.

Beers wanted, among other things, the witness said, $5,000 cash payment as the price of securing the contracts. That Sullivan brought to Santo Domingo and caused to be placed upon the payroll a man who he said was his personal physician, but said to be a masseur for Beers and with no better medical qualifications than that of a nurse, was asserted by Walker W. Vick, former receiver general of customs for Santo Domingo. In this he was corroborated by E. Fred Knauth, a dealer in medical supplies in New York, who said that on representations made by Beers he had advanced the so-called physician, A. J. Conroy, $1,000 worth of medical instruments. Beers had paid him $500 in advance, said Knauth, and had told him Conroy had insured his life in favor of Beers and Sullivan, a guarantee of his reliability. Knauth said he never got the other $500.

Vick, who instigated the present investigation, said Sullivan was generally credited with being responsible for the Dominican revolution of 1914 because he upheld the Bordas government against the Legalistas.

VOICES LOVE FOR WILSON

Washington, Jan. 16.—The state department made public an expression by General Gutierrez, the provisional president of Mexico, installed by the Villa-Zapata faction, in praise of President Wilson's views about the right of Mexico to settle its internal affairs without interference as contained in his speech at Indianapolis. Gutierrez's comment is as follows:

"The Mexican people and my government have received with satisfaction the opinion contained in the speech of President Wilson at Indianapolis. These opinions serve as a further proof of the purity of his views. President Wilson's profound sympathy for our people has always been appreciated by us. In all the incidents that have arisen subsequent to his taking charge of the administration this sympathy has been invariably shown. We have always had a feeling of gratefulness to this great American statesman for the just attitude assumed by him in not doing anything to hinder the struggles of a people in the efforts made by them to sunder the bonds of fanaticism and tyranny. A master's seat for the table of the world has been made of the great capital by Mr. Wilson. We trust that as regards us the great majority of the American people think and feel the same as their president, and there is awaited by us an opportunity to demonstrate to the American people that we shall be able to reciprocate in a loyal manner the friendship they have given us proof of and realize our destinies."

OVER WATER IN LONG RACE

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 16.—At least three people leaped to death from the burning deck of the yacht Julia into the freezing waters of Pamlico sound. They were J. W. Murray, president of the Piedmont Trust company of Burlington, N. C.; Mrs. W. E. Porch, manager of the Inside Inn at Beaufort, and G. P. Dodson of Norfolk. Mrs. J. W. Murray, the only survivor of the catastrophe, reached the shore after swimming half a mile through the freezing water.

The Julia was propelled by gasoline engines and when the craft was off Englehardt there was an explosion. Those on board fought the flames until nearly exhausted, but they continued to spread. They were driven

JURY DISAGREES IN THE LEE CASE

The jury in the case of Ohio against Frank Lee hopelessly disagreed Friday night, and after remaining in session from 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon until about 9:30 Friday night, the jury was discharged by Judge Carpenter from further consideration of the case.

It is claimed that four of the men stood for acquittal and eight for conviction.

Owing to the nature of the case it has attracted no little attention. A new trial will be held.

Prosecutor Maddox represented the state and H. H. Sanderson represented the accused.

NEW HOLLAND MILL BURNS

Fire, starting about two o'clock Saturday morning, completely destroyed the mill of the New Holland Milling company, entailing a loss of $4,000 to $5,000, which was partly covered by insurance.

The mill was located between Main and West Holland and was the property of A. H. Van Riper, who carried some $2,000 insurance.

For years the mill has been in operation. It is expected that Mr. Van Riper will not rebuild.

The blaze originated in the engine room.

AT GOOD HOPE INSTITUTE NEXT THURSDAY

LUELLA BARR M'KEE.

Educated in public schools and Degraff High school. Special training at University of Chicago; Mrs. Law's Training school, Toledo, Ohio. Student under Mrs. Rohrer, Marion Harlan and Ida Cogswell Bailey Allen, special course at Ohio State university. A teacher for many years in high school and grades in Degraff and Bellefontaine schools. Experienced Chautauqua worker and judge of domestic science exhibits at agricultural fairs. Following are the subjects upon which Mrs. McKee will speak at this season's institutes:

1. The Woman Who Spends (Special).

A carefully prepared synopsis now on file in the office of the Director of Institutes will insure a systematic and logical presentation of her work. With practical experience to back the work it should prove interesting and instructive to all.

SMALLEST BEAST OF PREY.

It is a True Weasel, but is Only About Six Inches Long.

The smallest carnivorous animal in the world is an American weasel which is numerous in northwest Canada and Alaska and is occasionally seen about the great lakes. It is a true weasel, but only six inches long, with a tail only one inch in length. All its upper surface is in summer pure amber brown, but the throat, abdomen and inside of the legs are pure white, and, unlike any other weasel, it has no black at the end of the tail; hence, although the animal turns white in the north in winter, it does not show the black tipped tail which characterizes an ermine pelt, and so it is not sought by trappers and fur traders.

This fact, with its small size and secretive life, has made its habits very little known, but they seem to be much like those of other weasels. It feeds on insects, which it finds alive in summer and in winter digs out of rotten logs; upon small birds, etc., but lives mainly on mice. These it can follow into their narrowest holes and runways, for it is scarcely larger than a field mouse itself, or, striking the trail of one, it will trace all its wanderings and as soon as it catches sight of its prey will spring after it with amazing and fatal rapidity.

It is frequently caught by naturalists in their mouse traps. An old Indian told W. H. Osgood of the biological survey, who thus captured one in southern Alaska, that it was a promise of rare good fortune. His brother, he related, had taken one when a boy and had in consequence become a big chief. A good name for this least of the carnivores would be "mouse hunter." It is known to science as Putorius rixosus.—Harper's.

SCIENTIFIC PUZZLES.

Some Queer Things One Learns in the Study of Chemistry.

Every one knows that the diamond is only charcoal crystallized, but there are a great many other things in nature that, though possessing widely different properties, are composed of exactly equal quantities of the same elements.

The white of an egg and rattlesnake poison are formed of identically the same amounts of the same elements.

The oil of roses and common coal gas are each formed alike, both being composed of four atoms of hydrogen and four atoms of carbon.

Sugar and gum arabic are likewise brothers of the same weight and texture.

All the hydrocarbons, known to science as a combination of sixteen atoms of hydrogen and ten atoms of carbon, are alike in their composition. To enumerate some—oil of orange, lemon, cloves, ginger and black pepper.

The suggested explanation of these peculiarities is that the atoms are placed differently toward one another in the molecules of the different substances.

Other things just as peculiar are evident when certain substances are united chemically. Thus hydrogen gas, which is odorless, and nitrogen gas, which is also odorless, when united go to make ammonia, which has a very strong odor. Copper, which has no odor, and zinc, which also has none, when melted and mixed to give us brass, produce a substance with a very characteristic one. —Chicago Record-Herald.

An Easy Tongue For Poesy.

Burns, of course, is untranslatable, for when he attempted common English he was commonplace. But he took his opportunity with the Scotch poets who have the delightful language that has no consonants. You can rhyme anything with anything. Scotch is the easiest language for rhyme. Among the most beautiful of Burns' poems is "Mary Morison," with—

Yestreen when to the trembling string
The dance went through the lighted hall
To thee my fancy took its wing,
I sat, but neither heard nor saw.

But saw doesn't rhyme with hall unless you speak Scotch and omit the consonants. You will perceive that a Scotchman cannot help writing poetry when he can make anything rhyme with anything. —London Chronicle.

Queered Himself.

The detective had just congratulated the housewife for bringing about the arrest of a noted sneak thief. "Oh, I knew he was a crook the minute he opened his mouth," she replied smilingly.

"How did you spot him so quickly?" "Why, he told me the gas company had sent him to examine our meter and see if we were not entitled to a rebate." —Argonaut.

The Turk in Constantinople.

Terrible scenes were witnessed in Constantinople when Mohammed II. captured the city in 1453. When the conquerors entered they slew 2,000 and made slaves of all who took refuge in the sanctuary of St. Sophia. Gibbon records the fate of the 60,000 prisoners: "Male captives were bound with cords, the females with their veils and girdles. The senators were linked with their slaves, the prelates with the porters of the church and young men of a plebeian class with noble maids whose faces had been invisible to the sun and their nearest kindred, and in this common state of captivity the ranks of society were confounded, the ties of nature were cut asunder, and the inexorable soldier was careless of the father's groans, the tears of the mother and the lamentations of the children."

Purifying the Air in Rooms.

To purify the air of offices or sick-rooms soak a few pieces of brown paper in a solution of saltpeter and allow them to dry. When desired for use lay a handful of flowers of lavender, which can be got at any drug store, on a tin pan with a few pieces of the paper and light. The aroma is refreshing and agreeable and drives away insects. If hot water is procurable a few drops of oil of lavender in a glass of very hot water is good. It purifies the air at once and effectually rids the room of flies and insects of all kinds. —Scientific American.

Motorist's Luck.

"Well, Blithers, what luck did you have with your new car?" asked Jaroway.

"More than I ever expected," said Blithers. "Just three minutes after the darned thing blew up another car came along with a busted tire, and the owner bought my old tires for $10 apiece." —Harper's Weekly.

No Help.

"I admit that the architecture of this house is something fierce," said the agent, "but just see how handy the place is—only a stone's throw from the station."

"I see it is," said Tomkins wearily. "but I'm such a rotten shot it wouldn't be any satisfaction to me." —Harper's Weekly.
